

August 31, 2017

Octavius V. Catto
Professional Development Series

Session I:
Best Practices and Strategies

Professional Development for Philadelphia School District Social Studies and ELA teachers of grades 8-12

The Office of Curriculum, Instruction, and Assessment, in collaboration with the Catto Memorial Fund, Amy Cohen of History Making Productions, USHistory.org, and a large group of Philadelphia's cultural institutions is excited to announce the first session of professional development in the Octavius V. Catto Series; Best Practices and Strategies.

Participants will receive 6 Act 48 hours. PD Planner Activity # 1000010283

What to expect?

Participants can expect:

- To hear nationally distinguished educator, Dr. H. Richard Milner, IV. from University of Pittsburgh School of Education
- To gain an understanding of the relations of racial/cultural literacy the Octavius V. Catto story
- To be equipped with racially and culturally iterate practices that can be implemented in the classroom
- To gain disciplinary and content literacy practices that can be used in the classroom to support student learning about Catto using primary and secondary sources
- To gain an understanding for opportunities in civic learning
- To have the opportunity to tour the Constitution Center's core exhibits
- To receive a classroom set of the O.V. Catto teaching resources written by Amy Cohen, as well as, copies of Dr. Milner's recent publications

Event co-sponsored by the National Archives' National Education Program.

Join us!

The National Constitution Center

August 31, 2017, 8:30 AM – 3:30 PM

BRING CHARGED LAPTOPS AND NOTEBOOKS!

For More info:

Shaquita Smith ssmith5@philasd.org Yaasiyn Muhammad yamuhammad@philasd.org